SUMMARY

I'm currently in my first year of BSc IT, embarking on an exciting journey to delve into the world of Information Technology. Eager to explore the fundamental concepts and practical applications of IT, I approach my studies with curiosity and dedication.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Fresher

I am a motivated fresher eager to secure an internship in web development, with proficiency in HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. My journey in web development has been marked by a commitment to learning and adapting to new challenges. With a solid foundation in front-end development, I am equipped to contribute effectively to your team's projects. Given the chance, I am confident in my ability to collaborate effectively with your team, bringing fresh perspectives and creative solutions to the table. I am ready to immerse myself in the world of frontend development and make meaningful contributions to your organization's success.
